

High Appreciation

One May day in 2016, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited a machine-building factory.

After exchanging greetings with its officials, he said with satisfaction that he felt relieved and invigorated to see the brilliant achievements made by the workers of the factory boundlessly loyal to the Workers' Party of Korea.

And he spoke highly of the workers, saying that their indomitable mental spirit is the inexhaustible source of working eye-opening miracles.

Noting that he felt very pleased to see the factory manufacturing world-class machinery and equipment by itself, he asked its officials to convey to the workers the fact that he was greatly satisfied and appreciated them.
