

Driving a Tractor

One hot summer day in August 2023, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited the Kumsong Tractor Factory.

Looking round several places of the factory for hours, he paid particular concern to the performance and quality of its tractors.

Walking out of the shop floor, he saw many tractors lined up outside.

He stood for a good while looking at the tractors, which were permeated with the sweat of the factory workers. Then he said that he would drive one of them.

During his previous visit back in 2017, he had driven a tractor and given his opinion about its performance and technical specifications.

Recollecting this, the officials could see how deeply he was concerned about the comprehensive mechanization of the rural economy.

After driving the tractor for a while, Comrade Kim Jong Un got off and said that the gearbox and the steering wheel got much smoother and more convenient than before. He also commented on the height of the break footboard, position of the accelerator pedal and the intensity of the spring under the driver's seat.

The officials of the factory realized once again how much importance he attached to the development of the country's machine-building industry and the implementation of the rural technical revolution.

They were firmly determined to attain without fail the goals set forth by the Central Committee of the Workers' Party of Korea, by carrying forward the glorious traditions of the working people in the Chollima era.
